Key Question

What seems impossible to you?

Use this guide to help your family learn how God can give us courage.

Activity

Rock On

What You Need:

Small stones or rocks*

*Note: If you can't find any rocks, choose another dense object like marbles, softballs, or containers of Play-Doh®.

What You Do:

Set out the rocks (or other objects).

Tell your child, "I'm going to make a statement. If the statement is true for you, pick up a rock and explain your answer. If the statement is true for me, I'll do the same."

Then, read the following statements. Take turns picking up rocks and giving specific examples, explaining your responses.

Statements:

You have been afraid . . .

- about getting a bad grade on a test.
- to stand up for what's right when others aren't.
- to invite someone to our church.
- that you might be the one who makes your team lose a game.
- of being in a new group where you don't know anyone yet.
- to stand up for someone when others won't.
- to try something new.
- to pray out loud when no one else will.

When you're finished, say, "It's OK to feel afraid. And sometimes it feels like we're holding a lot of heavy fears. But we don't have to stay afraid. We can always ask God to help us be courageous."

Talk About the Bible Story

How had the Israelite army been reacting to Goliath's threats? (They were terrified.)

What did David offer to do when he heard Goliath taunting the Israelites? (He offered to fight Goliath.)

How do you know that God can do the impossible?

How does it help you face your fears to remember that God can do the impossible? How does that give you courage?

Have you ever tried to do something that felt impossible? (If your child has recently learned a new skill that was difficult, or gone through a tough situation, talk with them about it now. Ask them what it felt like to face something that seemed impossible.)

Parent: Share a personal story of a time God helped you face an impossible situation.

Prayer

Use this prayer as a guide, either after talking about the Bible story or sometime before bed tonight:

"Dear God, we know that You can help us to be strong and courageous. Please help us to do what we should do, even when things seem impossible. We know that YOU are more powerful than our greatest fear, and You can help us stand strong. YOU are our rock, and we love You. Give us the help we need this week to be brave and strong for You in the things we say and do. In Jesus' name, amen."
